The Outside Meeting.

The outside meeting was very large, occupying all the space in front of the Institute. Speeches were made by Messrs. Ennis, Troup, Riely, and P. and D. Weich, which were listened to with great attention. The appearance of the calcium lights shining upon the crowd, and changing from light to darkness every minute, with the transparencies, flags, and other things, was very picturesque and had an excellent effect.

THE HON. PATRICK KEADY'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Keady, on being introduced, was loudly checred. He said: Mr. Chairman and gentlemen: I.

Lives of great men all remind us We can make our lives sublime, And, departing, leave behind as Foot-prints on the sands of Time.

Special Despatches to The Sun.

THE LATE MR. STEVENS. The remains of the Hon. Thaddeus Stevens will leave here on Friday next in a special train for Lancaster. Among those designated as pall bearers are Attorney-General Evarts, Ex-Secretary of War Stanton, Senators Sumuer and Macdenald, and Secretary Seward. Mr. Stevens's funeral will take place at mess and the power of speech up to within a few moments of his death, his last words being to ask for a piece of ice. Many persons called to see him dering the evening, but none were admitted until after about 6 o'clock, when two colored elergymen named Reed and Hall, who had some months before expressed a desire to pray with him, were sent for at his request, and coming to his besidie invoked the divine blessing on him. One of these colored men was at the death bed of John Quincy Adams. Mr. Stevens seemed somewhat affected at the prayers of these midsters, and at the close thanked them with feeble voice and a pressure of the hand. About ten minutes before his death Sister Loretta asked and obtained consent to baptize him, and the solemn rite was administered in silence, which was rendered more tanpressive by the stillness of the late hour of the night. At the time his breathing was very much obstructed, and he scenned to suffer from a violent palpitation of the heart, but this passed off, and during five minutes before he breathed his last he lay motionless and quiet as if in a gentle sleep. Among many others who have called this evening to view the remains of Mr. Slevens were Secretary Schoffeld, Attorney-teneral Evarts, Senator Summer, Gen. Esken, and Surgeon-General Barnes. The body of Mr. Slevens were Secretary Schoffeld, Attorney-teneral Evarts, Senator Summer, Gen. Esken, and Surgeon-General Barnes. The body of Mr. Slevens will be in state in the Rotunda of the Capitol to-morrow, tron 12 o'clock noon until its departure on the afternoon of Friday for Lancaster, whither it will be taken by a special train. The remains will be guarded by a company of Colored Zouaves of this city, who have requested that honor.

The arrangements for the funezal in this city have not been completed. The religious services will probably be conducted by the Chaplain of the Senate, the Rev. Br. Benery, of Pennsylvania. The Rev. Dr. Bognton is absent from Washington and cannot possibly be here in time to attend. The principal fu

Minister to Mexico, has not made up his mind to accept. Learning something of the policy which the Administration proposes pursuing relative to that country, he has decided to await the return

Following is the letter of Secretary McCulloch to United States Attorney General Evarts, and the opinion of the Attorney General in response thereto:
